DISCLAIMER – ISO CERTIFICATION SERVICES

Effective Management Consultants provides ISO consulting, documentation, implementation, training, internal audit, and certification facilitation services only. We do not issue ISO certificates and are not an accredited Certification Body.

The grant, suspension, withdrawal, renewal, or continuation of any ISO certification is solely at the discretion of the independent accredited Certification Body selected by the client. Certification is subject to successful completion of the certification audit and compliance with the applicable ISO standard(s).

While we strive to assist clients in achieving compliance with the relevant ISO requirements, we do not guarantee certification or a specific audit outcome. The client is solely responsible for implementing, maintaining, and continually improving its management system and for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the information and records provided during the consulting and certification process.

Our liability shall be limited to the consultancy services agreed upon in the engagement and shall not extend to any decision made by the Certification Body or Accreditation Body.
